Pre-requisite: IDST 250, Research Methods in Interdisciplinary Studies
(NOTE: No more than 3 hours of internship credit may be used to meet requirements for the major, however, these courses can each be taken for up to six credits with the remaining credit hours being used for elective hours toward the student's degree.)

Liberal Arts Concentration Requirements: 36 credit hours

The major consists of at least 36 hours from two concentrations (one must be from the College of Humanities and Behavioral Sciences) with a minimum of 12 hours in each concentration. Concentrations are defined as courses offered by an individual department or school. At least 50% of each concentration must be taken at the 300-400 level. For the purposes of computing the major grade point average, the major is defined as the courses taken to complete the Liberal Arts Major Specific Requirements as well as the courses within the two areas of the student's chosen concentrations.
