The Community of Artists – a space where students live, create and support each other.

Academics

The Community of Artists is a living-learning community for first-year students, both freshman and transfer, in the College of Visual and Performing Arts (CVPA). As a member of this community, you will live and take classes together with other Community of Artists students in an environment designed to support your needs as a new student and young professional.

Benefits of this community include:

- Learning about other CVPA majors (art, dance, design, music and theatre);
- Having input in creating activities you enjoy and workshops that will help you succeed academically;
- Being included in local and regional travel opportunities; and
- Participating in optional leadership roles and opportunities for continued involvement beyond the first year.

Trinkle Hall

The Community of Artists is housed in Trinkle Hall.

Trinkle Hall offers:

- In-hall access to specialized artistic work spaces and spacious rehearsal rooms where you can practice and create (one pictured below);
- Air-conditioned, suite-style rooms;
- Lounge areas for artists to gather and socialize; and
- A convenient location just a few steps away from performance and exhibition halls, studios and CVPA classrooms.

Community of Artists students provide suggestions and participate in decisions to improve the artistic spaces within Trinkle Hall.

How to apply

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS:

- You must declare a major from the College of Visual and Performing Arts, which includes art, dance, design, music and theatre.
- If you're a performing arts major (dance, music or theatre), you must successfully audition before you will be fully admitted to the Community of Artists.

MEMBERS WILL:

- Live in Trinkle Hall.
- Take the Community of Artists-specific UNIV 100 Introduction to Higher Education course during your first fall semester.

HOW TO APPLY:

- Go to www.radford.edu/artscommunity and select 'Apply Here.'
- If you have questions, email Dana Trask at dctrask@radford.edu.
