FEBRUARY IS BLACK HISTORY MONTH!

Carter G. Woodson created Black History Month to promote and educate people about Black history and culture. He is nicknamed "father of Black history."

DID YOU KNOW?

- Every year, the ASALH selects a theme for Black History Month.
- The first Black History Month theme was Civilization: A World Achievement.
- This years theme is Black Resistance!

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT

Miranda Brewster

My name is Miranda Brewster. I am from Tazewell, Virginia. I am a junior this year at Radford University. I am majoring in Communication Sciences & Disorders with the hopes of becoming a Speech-Language Pathologist (SLP) after graduate school. I am wanting to work with pediatrics that have difficulty producing speech or ages birth to 3 that have dysphasia difficulties. I chose this major because I want to help children become more comfortable with things that they may be insecure about such as speech impediments. Also, I am one of many committee leaders for NSSLHA and I have been doing this since last semester. I have enjoyed this so much because it has introduced me to new friends and pushed me to try new things. Outside of school, I love spending time with my friends and family, go to country music concerts, watch movies, and take my dog, Mia, on walks!
